Select a software project idea to be developed and implemented throughout this course by using a suitable software engineering life-cycle model that best describes your project requirements, analysis, design, and implementation. In this assignment, write one paragraph to determine the project functional requirements according to the client needs and draw the use cases diagram accordingly.